FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

KC MAN SENTENCED FOR AIDING, ABETTING MURDER OF A FEDERAL WITNESS

KANSAS CITY, Mo. – Todd P. Graves, United States Attorney for the Western District of Missouri, announced that a Kansas City, Mo., man was sentenced in federal court today for aiding and abetting others in the murder of a federal witness to prevent the victim from communicating to law enforcement.

Cornelius Peoples, 31, of Kansas City, also known as "C," was sentenced by U.S. District Judge Fernando J. Gaitan this morning to 20 years in federal prison without parole.

On Dec. 21, 2005, Peoples pleaded guilty to aiding and abetting co-defendant Xavier Lightfoot, 42, of Kansas City, and others in the killing of John Wayne Hogsett, also known as Jovan Ross, with the intent to prevent Hogsett/Ross from communicating to law enforcement information regarding the armed robbery of a credit union. Hogsett/Ross was murdered in the early morning hours of June 8, 1998, at his Kansas City residence.

On Aug. 2, 2005, Lightfoot was convicted by a trial jury for his role in the conspiracy to murder a federal witness and a conspiracy to rob Educator's Federal Credit Union Branch in Omaha, Neb. As a result of that conviction, Lightfoot will be sentenced to life in federal prison without parole.

Lightfoot was arrested and charged in the District of Nebraska with committing several credit union robberies. During Lightfoot's prosecution in Nebraska, Peoples learned that Hogsett/Ross was the chief government witness in the case. In an attempt to avoid having Lightfoot prosecuted for the credit union robberies, Graves said, a scheme was devised to kill Hogsett/Ross. Lightfoot and Peoples communicated the details of the scheme over a period of days during in-person visits at the Corrections Corporation of America, a federal holding facility. A number of the meetings occurred with a telephone being used to conduct the conversation. The telephone conversations were recorded, Graves said.

When a decision was made to hire someone to murder Hogsett/Ross, Peoples approached Anthony Lee Hunter, 36, no permanent address, to commit the murder. Hunter indicated that he was currently under police scrutiny for various illegal activities and could not commit the murder himself. However, Hunter offered to find another person to murder Hogsett/Ross. Hunter then contracted Curtis Barfield, 41, and Carl Haskell, 28, both formerly of Kansas City, Kan., to commit the murder. Preparations were undertaken to commit the murder, including driving the hired killers by Hogsett/Ross' residence and place of employment.

Hogsett/Ross was murdered as a result of those agreements on June 8, 1998. After the murder, Peoples had several conversations with Hunter in an effort to confirm that Hogsett/Ross was dead. Confirmation of the murder became critical, Graves explained, because the murder was never announced publicly. Peoples eventually met with the contracted killers and obtained details of what transpired. Peoples gave Hunter approximately $2,500 of the agreed-upon contract fee. Shortly after, Peoples told Lightfoot in a recorded conversation that the murder had occurred.

In separate but related cases, Haskell, Barfield and Hunter all were convicted of crimes relating to the murder of Hogsett/Ross. A federal jury convicted Haskell of the murder of a federal witness and Barfield of conspiracy to murder a federal witness on June 12, 2002. Haskell was sentenced to life in federal prison without parole; Barfield was sentenced to five years in federal prison without parole. Hunter was sentenced to 15 years in federal prison without parole after pleading guilty to aiding and abetting others in the murder of a federal witness.

This case is being prosecuted by Assistant U.S. Attorneys K. Michael Warner and Jeff Valenti. It was investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Kansas City, Mo., Kansas City, Kan., Omaha, Neb., St. Joseph, Mo., Overland Park, Kan., and Leawood, Kan., police departments.
